Extract of a Letter from Sir John Jervis, K. B. Admiral of the Blue, and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels in the Mediterranean, to Mr. Nepean, dated Victory, off Toulon, June 10, 1796.

I Acquaint you, for the Information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that last Evening, having observed a French Cruizer working up to Hieres Bay, within the Islands, I called Captain Macnamara, of His Majesty's Ship Southampton, on Board the Victory, pointed the Ship out, and directed him to make a Dash at her, through the grand Pass, which he performed with admirable Spirit and Alacrity: And I beg Leave to refer their Lordships to his Statement inclosed, for the Detail of this gallant Action.

Southampton, off Toulon, June 10, 1796.

SIR,

IN Obedience to the Orders I received from you on the Victory's Quarter Deck last Evening, I pushed through the Grand Pass, and hauled up under the Batteries on the North East End of Porquerolle with an easy Sail, in Hopes I should be taken for a French or Neutral Frigate, which I have great Reason to believe succeeded, for I got within Pistol Shot of the Enemy's Ship before I was discovered, and cautioned the Captain through a Trumpet not to make a fruitless Resistance, when he immediately snapped his Pistol at me and fired his Broadside. At this Period, being very near the heavy Battery of Fort Breganson, I laid him instantly on Board, and Lieutenant Lydiard, at the Head of the Boarders, with an Intrepidity no Words can describe, entere and carried her in about Ten Minutes, although he met with a spirited Resistance from the Captain (who fell) and a Hundred Men under Arms to receive him. In this short Conflict the Behaviour of all the Officers and Ship's Company of the Southampton had my full Approbation, and I do not mean to take from their Merit by stating to you that the Conduct of Lieutenant Lydiard was above all Praise. After lashing the Two Ships together, I found some Difficulty in getting from under the Battery, which kept up a very heavy Fire, and was not able to return through the Grand Pass before Half after One o'Clock this Morning, with the L'Utile Corvette of 24 Guns, French Six Pounders, commanded by Citizen François Veza, and One Hundred and Thirty-six Men, several of whom escaped on Shore in the Launch. I am happy to inform you that I only lost One Man, William Girton, Marine, who was killed by a Pistol Shot near me on the Quarter Deck. From the best Information I can obtain, the Enemy had killed and wounded Twenty-five. I have the Honour to be,

SIR,

Your very obedient,

humble Servant,

(Signed) J. MACNAMARA.

Agamemnon, off Oneglia, June 1, 1796.

SIR,

AT Two P. M. Yeſterday, ſeeing Six Sail running along Shore, which I believed to be French, and knowing the great Conſequence of intercepting the Cannon and Ordnance Stores, which I had Information was expected from Toulon, to be landed at St. Piere d'Acena, for the Siege of Mantua, I made the Signal for a general Chace, when the Veſſels, which now hoiſted French Colours, anchored cloſe under a Battery. I directed to Captain Cockburn, of the Meleager, to lead me in, which he did in a moſt Officer-like Manner, and at Three o'Clock the Meleager and Agamemnon anchored in leſs than Four Fathoms Water, as ſoon afterwards did the Peterell and Speedy; after a ſhort Reſiſtance from the Battery and Veſſels, we took Poſſeſſion of them.

It is impoſſible I can do Juſtice to the Alacrity and Gallantry ever conſpicuous in my little Squadron. Our Boats boarded the National Ketch (the Commodore of the Convoy) in the Fire of 3 Eighteen-Pounders, and 1 Eighteen-Pounder in a Gun-Boat.

The Blanche and Diadem being to Leeward, the former could not anchor until the Veſſel had ſtruck, but the Boats of all the Ships were active in getting them off the Shore, the Enemy having cut their Cables when they ſurrendered. A ſmart Firing of Muſquetry was kept up from the Shore during the Whole of this Service.

The Agamemnon's Maſts, Sails, and Rigging are a little cut, but of no material Conſequence.

Much as I feel indebted to every Officer in the Squadron, yet I cannot omit to mention the great Support and Aſſiſtance I have ever received from Captain Cockburn; he has been under my Command near a Year on this Station, and I ſhould feel myſelf guilty of Neglect of Duty was I not to repreſent his Zeal, Ability and Courage, which is conſpicuous on every Occaſion which offers.

Enclоſed I tranſmit you a Liſt of the Killed and Wounded, and alſo of the Veſſels taken.

I have the Honour to remain, &c.

HORATIO NELSON.
